WIF India and Dell, partnering to develop women screenwriters, put women-led films on screens, and place young women in paid film jobs.

THE PROPOSAL, IN ONE SENTENCE

In one sentence

WIF India proposes a consolidated partnership with Dell across three programs: developing women screenwriters, putting women-led films on screens, and placing young women in paid film jobs.

01

DEVELOP

Screenwriters
Residency Lab: 6
feature scripts, 6
mentors.

02

DISTRIBUTE

Exhibition
Program:
women-led films
across PVR screens.

03

EMPLOY

Internship
Program: paid placements for young women.

› Dell ~~or EMC~~ selects one of three independent programs.

WHY NOW

The opportunity

- 01 India produces over 2,500 films a year, yet women's participation in key disciplines remains under ~~10%~~.
 - 02 The gap is not talent. It is access: to mentorship, to distribution, and to paid work inside an often opaque, male-dominated industry.
 - 03 WIF India builds the infrastructure to change that. Dell can be the Presenting Partner across development, distribution, and employment.

PARTNER CREDENTIALS

THE PARTNERSHIP

Three programs, one partnership

01 01 - Screenwriters Residency Lab

- Develops 6 feature film scripts with 6 high-profile mentors
- Outcome: festival showcase and industry pitching for women writers

02 02 - Exhibition Program

- Distributes women-led films via a PVR cinema partnership
- Outcome: 6 films, roughly 90-120 screenings across major cities

03 03 - Internship Program

- Places young women in 6-month paid internships across 10+ departments
- Outcome: 30-35 women placed per year

PROGRAM 01

Screenwriters Residency Lab

01 What it is

- Pan-India, genre-based feature film development lab
- 6 writers, 6 mentors; 3-day residential lab in Kolkata / Darjeeling
- IP stays with the writer; credit: "Developed at the WIF India Screenwriters Lab"

02 Timeline

- Applications Oct 2025, shortlist of 50 by Dec, final 6 by March 2026
- Residential lab May 2026, festival showcase Aug 2026

03 Dell's visibility

- Presenting Partner on all lab communications and festival materials
- "Supported by Dell" on writer pitch decks and festival submissions

PROGRAM 02 · DRAFT SCOPE

Exhibition Program

01 What it is

- WIF as a distribution channel for women-centric and women-led films
- PVR partnership: 15-20 screenings per film across 6 cities
- Understated premiere format: awareness and exposure over glamour

02 Year 1 scope

- 6 curated films; rolling premieres through the year
- Mumbai, Delhi, Bangalore, Kolkata, Chennai, Hyderabad

03 Dell's visibility

- Presenting Partner on premiere events and screening slates
- Co-branded screening intro cards and premiere materials

PROGRAM 03

Internship Program

01 What it is

- 6-month paid internships, ₹25,000/month stipend
- 10+ departments: Direction, Writing, Editing, Production, Cinematography, OTT, and more
- 30–35 women per year; optional multi-year extension at $200K/year

02 Support included

- Travel and accommodation support, especially for non-metro candidates
- Host mentorship, certificates, and recommendation letters

03 Dell's visibility

- Co-branded certificates and closing ceremony
- Featured in the annual impact report with placement data

THE INVESTMENT

Choose a program

DELL SPONSORSHIP, ONE PROGRAM

SCREENWRITERS LAB

USD
$150,000

One-time program cycle

Feature film development for 6 women writers; 3-day residential lab.

EXHIBITION PROGRAM

USD
$150,000

Annual program

Women-led films on screens via PVR; ~90–120 screenings.

INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

USD
$200,000

/ year

30–35 paid internships across 10+ film departments.

Three independent programs. ~~Dell or EMC selects one. WIF designs, delivers, and reports end to end.~~

Full program design, delivery, and on-ground management

Mentor curation, PVR partnership, or internship placements (per program)

Presenting Partner branding across the sponsored program

Annual impact report: writers mentored, films screened, or women placed Internship multi-year: $200K/year per cohort (30–35 women). In-film branding (via Sikhya / Raonaq) is a separate, parallel track.

THE DECISION

The ask

Select one program: Screenwriters Lab ($150K), Exhibition ($150K), or Internship ($200K/year).

WHAT WE ASK OF DELL

- 01 Select one program to sponsor

- 02 Presenting Partner status across the sponsored program

- 03 Optional: a Dell representative at key events and premieres

Get more women more jobs, and together, change the story of who makes Indian cinema.
